Dedicated to His Holiness

Pope John XX III

Nineteen hundred and sixty-two was the year of the Council, the twenty-first such convocation in the Church's history. At the Council the assembled bishops began to determine the face of the 20th century Church. Pope John XXIII made this assembly possible. He had the wisdom to foresee that the Church can fulfill its roll of teacher only by presenting the truth in a way understandable to the people of the age. His universally mourned death in June, 1963, attested to the profound influence he exerted on the Catholics of the day and the entire world. To Pope John, our Holy Father, we dedicate this book.

MOST REVEREND BRYAN J. MCENTEGART, D.D.
Bishop of Brooklyn

"All our people are justly proud of the great success of our Diocesan Building Campaign."

The school building program to which His Excellency referred is indeed a great achievement, and it has given new life to education in Brooklyn. What the bishop failed to add, however, is that the Diocese is also proud of him, who, in education as in all other matters, has been a good shepherd to his flock.

Principal's Message

BROTHER MEDARD, C.F.X.

Office of the Principal

XAVERIAN HIGH SCHOOL-7100 SHORE ROAD, BROOKLYN 9, NEW YORK

June, 1963

Dear Graduates of '63:

There is more than the brightness of the summer sun to lighten the hearts of seniors in this month of June, 1963. The long four-year course is run, and run well. The diploma, symbol of success, is now a proud possession. The unknown future is faced with confidence, optimism.

Yet, all hearts feel, I am sure, a twinge of nostalgia that this last year has so quickly come and gone. The daily grind of scholastic chores at "7100" will be no more, but will soon be recalled as "the good old days."

In a world crying for moral, as well as political leadership, Xavierian has a principal aim, the development of leadership among its students. All cannot be leaders, but all can learn the qualities of leadership, so that the choice and direction of leaders will be done wisely.

All Xavierian graduates, however, can show leadership qualities in specific areas, civic, moral, and intellectual. Your school program here was a challenge scholastically. Your school values were taught and exemplified daily. Moral and spiritual discipline were the backbone of student behavior. Initiative, self-respect, and the worth of the individual were stressed in your training. These qualities and values make up your Xavierian training and education. You will lead by your example and use of knowledge gained.

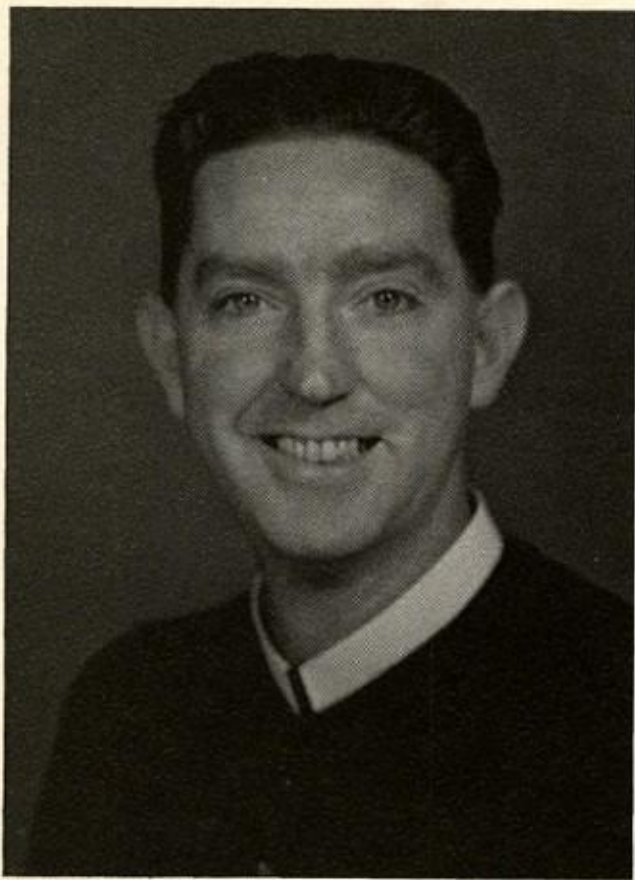

No one can say what influence Xavierian High has had on you over the past four years, now how much Xavierian spirit has become a part of you. What this spirit is cannot be said in a few hurried words, but one sentence from a school bulletin sums up quite thoroughly what we all hope, trust, and pray. your career at Xavierian has meant to you:

"Xavierian High School expects you to be a man conspicuous for his devotion to Christ and His Church; steadfast in his confidence in Mary; alert to his responsibilities as a citizen; untiring in his search for knowledge; and manly in his loyalty to his Alma Mater."

Sincerely yours,

Brother Medard, C.F.X.

Assistant Principal

BROTHER KYRIN, C.F.X.

Since taking the Assistant Principal's position late last June, Brother Kyrin has worked without rest to improve all phases of school life. Besides managing a full office schedule, he found time to moderate the Leo Honor Society, run a Saturday Study Program, and conduct an advanced placement English seminar.

Always, Brother does the right thing; respected and liked by all he is, like Sir Thomas More, ". . . a man of an angel's wit and singular learning . . . of marvelous mirth and pastimes, and sometimes of as sad as gravity."

Administrative Assistant

BROTHER BRUCE, C.F.X.

Brother Bruce is a friendly efficient worker in the office and in the classroom. Doing business with brother is almost a pleasure, for we students appreciate the respect and courtesy he shows us.

Treasurer

BROTHER MYRON, C.F.X.

Seldom seen but essential to a school's smooth operation is its treasurer. Brother Myron's keen business sense and a long-standing, quiet reliability make him an invaluable asset to Xaverian.

CONSECRATION TO THE MOTHER OF GOD IN THE SO-DALITY is an entire gift of oneself, throughout life and for all eternity . . .

to apply oneself seriously to sanctity

to dedicate oneself to the salvation and perfection of others

to employ oneself in the defense of the Church of Christ;

Such is the assignment of the Sodalist, freely, resolutely accepted in the act of his consecration;

Such is the magnificent program traced out for him by the Rules.

—POPE PIUS XII

APPRENTICESHIP

Experience exhibited by seasoned senior Clippers coupled with the ambition of the up-coming juniors led our Varsity Clippers to the most successful season thus far. The culmination of the season was the play-off game against an undefeated Power Memorial team at Fordham University. This game typified the team's continual spirit of driving determination and also dispelled any doubt about the ability of our Clippers, who provided Power with its toughest opponent this year. The success of their season is a tribute to the team's continued hard work.

Varsity

LEADERSHIP

The determination for this hard work was infused into the team by their new coach Mr. John Woods. In his rookie year as a Varsity coach Mr. Woods realized the trust placed in him by the Athletic Department. Mr. Woods put into effect his experience acquired as last year's J.V. coach. We hope that his future leadership as coach will be an inspiration to the up-coming Varsity teams and that he may have many more seasons as successful as this one.

Senior Officers

ROBERT M. MARINO
President

Always ready to help when help was needed, Bob proved to be a popular man among his classmates for his four years at Xaverian. As an upper classman, he was an executive of SAC, an influential figure on the dance committee and the Junior and Senior prom committees, and a school cheerleader. However, Bob is best known as a track man who won more than forty medals. His service, combined with a knack for leadership, made Bob a natural choice for school president, and his record as president fully justified our confidence in him.

ROBERT K. FLEMING
Vice-President

As an underclass trackman, sodalist, and class officer, Bob built a firm groundwork for his leadership in the Senior year. A captain of the track team in his Senior year, Bob was truly outstanding in middle distance running. He displayed his skill by setting three school records which, in the foreseen future, seem unlikely to be broken. As a result of this outstanding running ability, he won a scholarship to Fordham University. Distinguished though he was for school service, Bob will be best remembered as a gentleman who was always considerate of his fellow students.

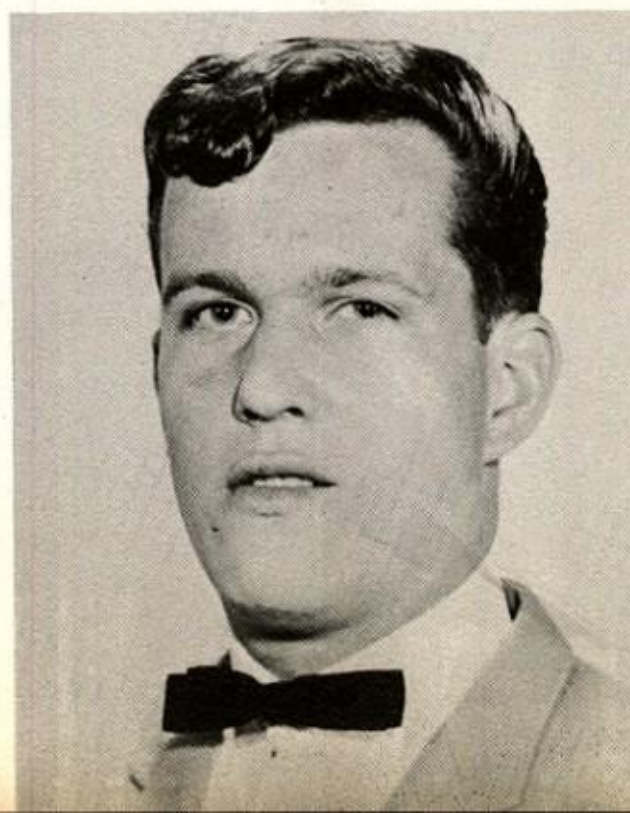

PETER A. REDPATH
Secretary

Pete was liked and admired by all who knew him at Xaverian. Although a hard worker at the books, he is able to claim in addition, four year loyalty to our track team and to the Sodality. As the secretary of the student activities council and member of its dance committee Pete has shown the sense of self-confidence and duty which will prove essential in the military career which he intends to pursue.

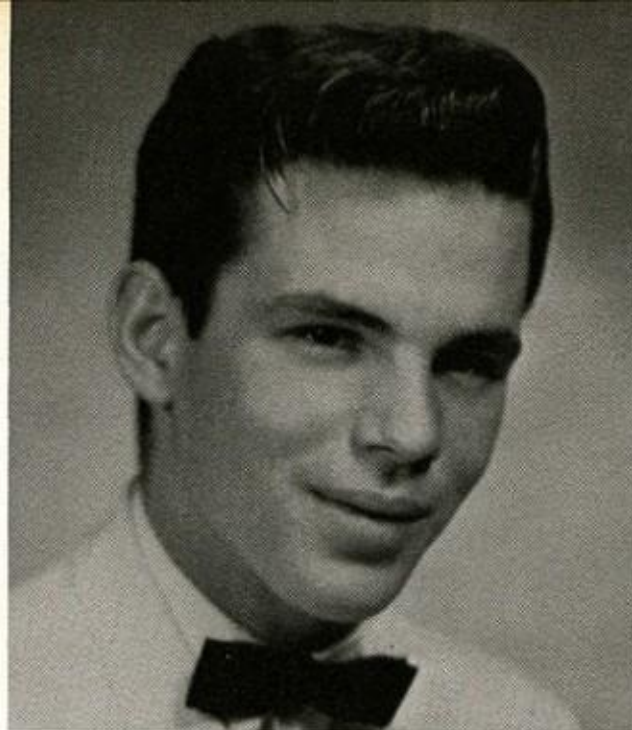

TIMOTHY P. BYRNES
Treasurer

Tim was invaluable as SAC's treasurer, and was deservedly popular at Xaverian. In his official capacity, Tim ran a highly successful raffle drive and established a precedent with SAC's weekly financial report. He fought hard for his class as its president for three years and as an intramural leader for four. In addition, he played a snappy second base for our Varsity baseball team in his Sophomore and Junior years.

Committee Heads

LAWRENCE J. PETRILLO
Social Chairman

Unofficial poet laureate of the school, Larry's style in print and in person is unmistakable. His genius with English ranges from yearbook captions to feature articles and Haiku for the X-Press. Larry's four year service on SAC's Dance Committee culminated in his appointment to it as Co-Chairman in his senior year. Add to these his natural inclination for athletics as well as skill in foreign languages and Larry emerges as a well-balanced Xaverian graduate.

HENRY A. NOCELLA
Cultural Chairman

Henry's skills as an actor and as an orator, dually testified by ringing applause at school plays and numberless trophies from interscholastic contests, earned him an officership in the Drama Club, the presidency of the Ryken Debate and speech society and SAC's cultural chairmanship. Besides these, he served as Secretary of the Leo Honor Society in his Senior year in addition to being active in intramurals for all four years.

ANTHONY A. LOFFREDO
Social Chairman

Tony has worked unceasingly in helping to build Xaverian's reputation, and in doing so has chalked up an impressive record for himself, a record which led to his being chosen as Xaverian's Hardest Worker. Best known as one of our top Varsity baseball pitchers, he was also a four year member of the school basketball team. Tony represented his class in SAC for three years and as a senior was chosen for the post of Co-Chairman of the Dance Committee. Two year membership in the Leo Honor Society indicates that success awaits Tony in the future.

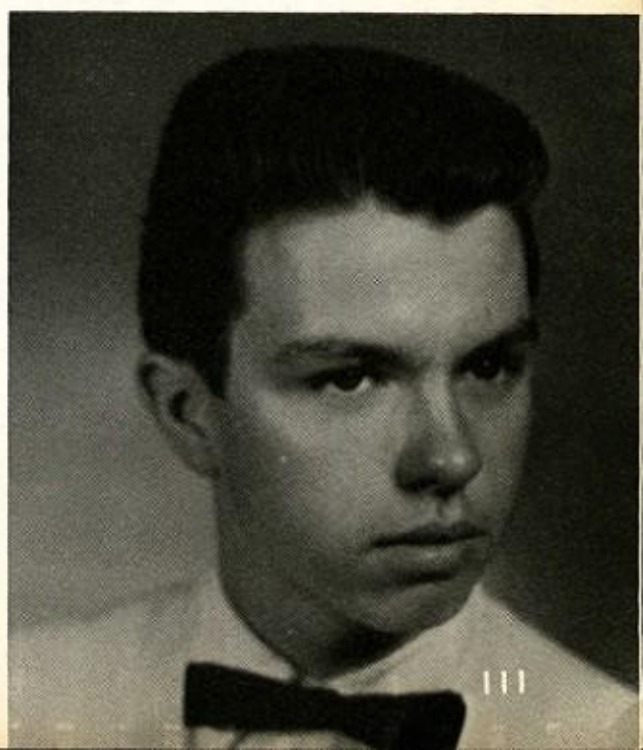

JOHN W. YATES
Athletic Chairman

Jack Yates, our Athletic Chairman, has the rare gift of succeeding at everything he tries. As an underclassman, he was a Sodalist, class officer, member of SAC's Dance Committee and an intramural referee, and was the only Junior to win a school service trophy. As a Senior, he ran the intramural tournaments throughout the year, wrote a weekly column for the LOCAL and won first prize in the school science fair.

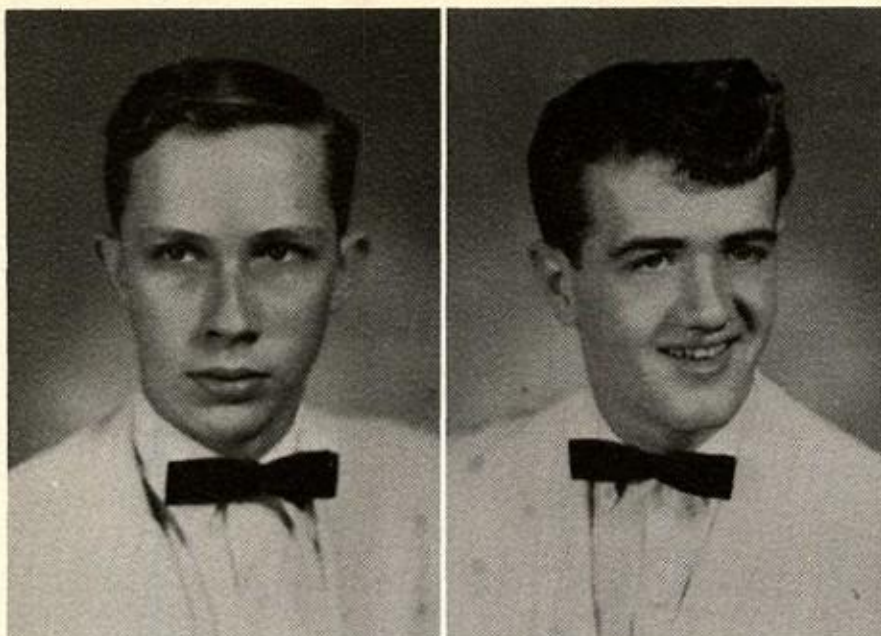

ROBERT C. WILSON
Religious Chairman

As prefect of the Senior Sodality, Bob was instrumental in developing a truly effective program of spiritual improvement for high school seniors. In his other key position, editor-in-chief of the X-Press, Bob demonstrated an excellent combination of journalistic and organizational ability by turning out an admirable publication. Having risen to the top in two fields of endeavor our Religious Chairman should achieve much success in his chosen profession, teaching.

X-cerpts

WHAT IS IT THAT CHARACTERIZES THE CATHOLIC GENTLEMAN?

" . . . one who never inflicts pain. The gentleman, then, is truly a gentle man. It is evident that the motivating factor behind the gentleman is LOVE.

Pope John XXIII has shown us that Christian CHARITY is necessary for men to live in peace and that Christian charity can be successfully practiced even in the twentieth century.

We say, quite truthfully, that the school has been forming us toward this goal, that the work and time of our teachers have been devoted to this task."

RICHARD JAEGER, Valedictory
Address, June 23, 1963
